

Phase 10 Attractor and Reflection Refinement

This addendum documents the latest polish pass for the Darts & Pats exhibit.

What changed

- Removed the animated bus-on-the-wire effect from The Breeze Parade.
- Replaced the wire effect with subtle birds: perched birds, rare head turns, and one low-frequency visitor bird.
- Added several ambient balloons while preserving one active balloon-to-clipping cycle.
- Added a restrained lower-left newspaper-dispenser moment tied to print and paper Darts/Pats.
- Replaced the static Reflection Wall with The Long Argument, a touchable time visualization of Pats and Darts by year/era/theme.
- Moved the source/explanatory text into a compact About this exhibit disclosure.

Design notes

Magical-realist details are intentionally low-frequency and quiet: no sound, no cartoon logic, and only one active pop cycle at a time. Reduced-motion mode freezes or simplifies bird, balloon, and dispenser animation.

The Long Argument uses touchable year tiles and era chips instead of a chart dashboard. It keeps the visitor's path anchored in representative cards.

Birds on the wire

The old wire-bus layer is removed; the overhead wire now carries quiet perched birds.

Increased balloon presence

Ambient balloons remain visible around the parade scene while the active pop cycle stays singular.
